

Notice

3 views

Skip to first unread message

Steven R. Worpell
<worpells@clareco.net>
unread,
Sep 4, 2020, 3:09:57 PM

to madcm@googlegroups.com

Hello Everyone:

I have a code enforcement officer that just mails tickets. I have a few cases coming up, where the defendants have contacted the court, and are claiming that they never received a copy of the ticket. They state that the notice they received from the court for show cause on default, is the first they knew of any violation. How would you handle these?

Thanks:

Steven R. Worpell

jbpahl0824
<jbpahl0824@gmail.com>
unread,
Sep 4, 2020, 3:13:01 PM

to Steven R. Worpell, madcm@googlegroups.com
I would set aside defaults very liberally in that situation.

Jim 55th

Sent from my iPad

> On Sep 4, 2020, at 3:09 PM, Steven R. Worpell <worp...@clareco.net> wrote:
>

james brennan <jamesbrennanlaw64@gmail.com>
unread,
Sep 4, 2020, 3:13:07 PM

to Jonathan Morse

Personally, I would give them the benefit of the doubt. If nothing else, it's good PR for the Court and enables Defendant to have a day in court. Have a great holiday weekend. Brennan

--

You received this message because you are subscribed to the Google Groups "MADCM" group.

To unsubscribe from this group and stop receiving emails from it, send an email to madcm+un...@googlegroups.com.

To view this discussion on the web visit <https://groups.google.com/d/msgid/madcm/fd1d788f6e6b4d54a94e74bd970493a2%40ClareCo.net>.

Altheide, Dena
<DAltheide@co.genesees.mi.us>
unread,
Sep 4, 2020, 5:48:20 PM

to madcm@googlegroups.com
Me too

Sent from my Sprint Samsung Galaxy S9.

--

You received this message because you are subscribed to the Google Groups "MADCM" group. To unsubscribe from this group and stop receiving emails from it, send an email to madcm+un...@googlegroups.com.

To view this discussion on the web visit <https://groups.google.com/d/msgid/madcm/107C1565-1362-4B33-9F91-AF3E74D96E21%40gmail.com>.

donaldchisholm
<donaldchisholm@comcast.net>
unread,
Sep 4, 2020, 7:18:46 PM

to madcm@googlegroups.com
There is no downside to giving anybody their day in court.
Don

Sent from my iPhone

To view this discussion on the web visit <https://groups.google.com/d/msgid/madcm/3C3E5ABC2B3ED8439369D75CD52BE9A01BE0E39EE%40EXCH-MB-1.Geneseecounty.local>.

Craig Hess
<hessy926@yahoo.com>
unread,
Sep 4, 2020, 7:48:00 PM

to madcm@googlegroups.com, james brennan

I've been retired for about 2 years but I would do like Brennan and Morse. I almost always gave the defendant the benefit if the doubt and it works in your favor almost every time. Glad this isn't my problem any more.

Sent from Yahoo Mail on Android

To view this discussion on the web visit https://groups.google.com/d/msgid/madcm/CAOeFoctR59XQLCaFix-NyHTE69K4pN-Z_mf%2B%2BgEqbX2obYD-w%40mail.gmail.com.

wedget

<wedget@stjosephcountymi.org>

unread,

Sep 5, 2020, 10:10:51 PM

to madcm@googlegroups.com, james brennan

You are missed Craig!!

Glad retirement agrees with you.

Tab

On Sep 4, 2020, at 7:48 PM, 'Craig Hess' via MADCM <ma...@googlegroups.com> wrote:

To view this discussion on the web visit <https://groups.google.com/d/msgid/madcm/526724195.2552758.1599263275495%40mail.yahoo.com>.

Craig Hess

<hessy926@yahoo.com>

unread,

Sep 6, 2020, 8:58:42 PM

to madcm@googlegroups.com, wedget, james brennan

Hey Tab, just thinking about you the other day when I went thru Centreville and saw the empty fairgrounds. Also, I talked to Tina and was saying there just needs a way to get you, me, Tina, Carol, Brian Ray, and Elaine Moore together for lunch or happy hour. Miss you too